

ViWinTech Windows & Doors

did not participate in the 2025 Energy Efficient Home Improvement Tax Credit program and does not have a Qualified Manufacturer Identification Number (QPIN) or (QMID).

Why ViWinTech did not participate

Recent changes to the federal tax credit program made participation significantly more complex. Requirements for qualifying windows, doors, and skylights were raised to the newest ENERGY STAR® performance standards, and the IRS added stricter reporting rules and QPIN processes with potential penalties for noncompliance.

At the same time, the federal credit itself was only funded through December 31, 2025, and officially ended at that time, with no credits available for 2026.

Given these evolving regulations and the short remaining timeframe of the program, ViWinTech has made the careful decision not to participate for 2025, prioritizing clarity, consistency, and the longterm needs of our customers.

Possible Rebates

Customers may still qualify for local incentives through the ENERGY STAR Rebate Finder <https://www.energystar.gov/productfinder/product/certified-windows/results>. Availability varies by state and utility provider.

ViWinTech remains an ENERGY STAR partner, and our products continue to meet ENERGY STAR and NFRC certification requirements.
